Three cases of intoxication were disposed in city court Monday morning by Judge J. S. Palmer. The first offender, Louis Russell, a first offender, pleaded guilty to intoxication and received a fine of $5 with costs taxed at $2.50. Following him, James R. McNaught, an habitual offender, was found guilty and fined $10 and costs, but was not asked to disclose as he took an appeal and furnished bail. John Ashley pleaded guilty to a first offense, receiving the usual fine of $5 and costs. Ashley was arrested March 30th, but for some reason his attorney had continued the case eight times and it was not disposed of until Monday.

City court was not quite so busy a place as is usual during the month of May and of the 22 cases which were tried all but three were for minor offenses. As usual intoxication was the chief contributor. In all 30 cases were heard and 15 of them were against offenders who had appeared in court in answer to the same charges on former occasions. The other 15 were first offenders, most of whom live in outside towns. Petit larceny was next in popularity, and five cases were heard, all but three of grand larceny. The other cases were divided among adultery, cruelty to animals, one, having liquor on hand with intent to sell, one, carrying liquor contrary to law, one, and breach of the peace, two.

A man by the name of Tacey, who said that his home was in Albany, appeared at the police station Monday and announced that he had been robbed of money and his watch while in this city Saturday. He thought that he had been robbed of about $15 as he had a considerable sum of money on him at the time and spent a part of it in purchasing some lumber. He could not tell a very coherent story and admitted that he took several drinks during his stay here. He thought that a man with whom he had chummed might have taken the money but denied having been asleep during the time. The impression received was that he did not have a very clear idea of what had happened.

Two cases of intoxication were tried in city court Friday before Judge J. S. Palmer. The first offender, Edward Perry, who is an habitual, and was fined $10 and costs. He was asked to disclose but he was so deaf that he could be made to understand little and nothing which could be used was ascertained from him. The other man was Peter Biegor, who said that his home was in Virginia. He was fined $5 and costs for a first offense but, although he had money, preferred to go to jail in order to save the cash with which to pay his fare out of the State. He was not favorably impressed with Vermont and the way its officers arrested people, and wanted to ride out in a good motor car. He got started and not travel the dubious path of a knight of the road.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Y. Bliss were given a reception Thursday night at the parish house of St. Paul's Church in honor of their return from an extended absence abroad. The reception, given under the auspices of the ladies' society of the church, was very largely attended, not only by members of the church but by other friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Bliss in town. Besides the Rev. and Mrs. Bliss, Mrs. A. C. Clarke and Elias Lyman received. The large hall was attractively decorated, flags being used mostly. In the parlors to the left light refreshments were served. Mrs. G. W. Wales and Mrs. F. H. Wells presided, assisted by the Misses Mary and Helen Lyman, Laura Winslow, Clara Marshall, Whitney, Harriet Bliss, Katherine Dow and Mary Loomis.

A district convention of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique was held at Lakeside Thursday, 12 delegates of the district being present. The convention was called to order at 2:30 in the afternoon by A. J. Lechance of St. Johnsbury and Dr. R. J. A. Bombard of Burlington, who are representative and alternate, respectively, to the supreme council. The following officers were elected: President, Edward A. Gagnon of Burlington; secretary, A. E. Beaudette of Montpelier; treasurer, A. E. Ponton of Newport; master of ceremonies, N. Joly of Rutland. At the banquet which followed Mr. Lechance spoke with others. The society is shown to be in a prosperous condition and in 19 years' growth has increased to 28,000 members.

Ira Russell, formerly of this city, had a collar bone broken and perhaps suffered other injuries Thursday afternoon, while driving his car outside of Plattsburgh, where he now lives. Mr. Russell and a friend, Edward Stratton, also of Plattsburgh, were traveling along what is known as the Salmon River road when the accident happened and just before climbing a stiff grade had the car speeded up to about 25 miles an hour. On account of the wet road and the car became unmanageable and skidded into a fence with such force that it turned turtle and threw both men out. Stratton's leg was broken between the hip and the knee and Russell's collar bone fractured. Assistance arrived on the scene immediately and Stratton was taken to the Champlain Valley hospital, while Russell went to his home. The car was badly wrecked.

GOV. WILSON THE MAN.

J. J. Gifford Looks for His Nomination and Election to Presidency.

J. J. Gifford, who for over a year has traveled the country in the interest of the candidacy of Governor Woodrow Wilson, has established headquarters at the Van Ness House in this city and will remain here a greater part of the time until after the caucuses which are to be held June 11. Mr. Gifford, although he has been in town only a few hours during this trip, visited the State about a week ago and says that if Wilson is nominated an active campaign will be conducted here before the presidential election in the fall, and speakers of national reputation will come to Vermont to make an active fight to reduce the usual republican majority.

Mr. Gifford said that probably no effort would be made to send an instructed delegation from Vermont, as this State stood so high in the matter of the suffrage that it would be unnecessary to send one. He would probably take no active stand in a nomination. He thought, however, that a delegation favorable to Wilson would be elected. According to his report, Wilson now

THE OLD BEE HIVE

JUNE 6, 1912

To-day $3.98 for the Finest Flemish Linen Pattern Table

Cloths—Value $5 to $8

June is the month when Table Linens are needed in the replenishing of home supplies, so this opportunity this morning to buy these beautiful Flemish Table Cloths at about half their regular worth, should attract more than ordinary interest.

The patterns are beautiful and show attractive lily, chrysanthemum, snow drop, spot, fleur-de-lis, tulip, thistle, and many satin stripe designs with borders, all at prices that are exceedingly modest, in comparison with their intrinsic worth and merit.

The cloths, of which there are exactly two hundred, represent part of a manufacturer's stock, of which he had no napkins to match. We bought them at a saving and offer them at a price that is the lowest that perfect linens of such standard worth, as these Flemish Linens, have ever been sold for in this or any other store.

There are two sizes, 24x24 and 28x24 yds., but the pattern assortment is remarkably broad and choice.
